Our Advocacy Role

The Iowa CareGivers is working to build a better world for those in direct care and the lowans you serve.

To build that better world, the Iowa CareGivers has to ADVOCATE. We have to speak up and speak out as an independent voice for those of you who work in the field of direct care. We have to educate lowans about who the direct care workforce is, what you do, and the important role you play in ensuring public health and public safety. We have to take a stand on issues that are important to you and the thousands of lowans who need you.

It is because of our advocacy that those in direct care are now positioned on various task forces, state councils and committees, and in leadership roles within their workplaces and communities. It is also because of our advocacy that important issues get discussed at the Capitol in Des Moines. As an example – we have worked with lots of different organizations and state departments over the years to provide those who work in direct care with high quality educational standards and opportunities, like other professionals.

We don’t give up on those things that we know to be right.

This year during the legislative session we worked hard to see legislation pass that would create more consistent educational standards for those who work in direct care and to create a Board of Direct Care Professionals that would give you the professional status you deserve and oversee the profession. That legislation did not pass – but it DID get discussed A LOT! We can and should feel good about that. The reality is that good ideas often take several years to get seriously considered.

Improving opportunities for the direct care workforce, and improving the care and services being provided are good ideas. They will continue to be pursued by the Iowa CareGivers and the many organizations and individuals in Iowa that believe as we do. We are convinced that these good ideas will become law some day – we simply have to keep working at it! Persistence pays off. We invite everyone who reads this to join with us to make it happen. We don’t give up on those things that we know to be right.

An associate recently compared the work of Iowa CareGivers to this story …. One town had a problem where children kept falling into the river upstream and so the emergency teams were constantly deployed to pull the children from the river. Until…one day someone said, we need to PREVENT the children from falling into the river by building a gate upstream at the location where they fall into the river”. The gate was built and problem solved.

Much like the children falling into the river, many who work in direct care leave the field due to the lack of education and professional growth opportunities within the field of direct care, wages that can’t support a family, and the lack of affordable health care. The “gate,” in this case, is the need to build a system that will ensure the direct care workforce of the future …one that will ensure that all who enter the field of direct care receive consistent, high quality standardized education and skill development, opportunities to grow professionally within the field of direct care, and wages that are equal to the importance of the work performed. When Iowa fully commits to investing in that “gate” many of the problems will be solved.

Spotlight

Leslie Ann Hayenga Adams

CNA, CMA, Dementia Care Professional, Activity Director, Member of the Iowa CareGivers Direct Care Professional Leadership Council

Where I work: Avera Holy Family Hospital, Estherville, IA
Recent accomplishments: Attending the AARP legislative breakfast at the Capitol.
My favorite part of caregiving: Making a difference in the lives and the quality of care of people I care for on a daily basis.
Something I’d like to change about the caregiving profession: Respect—How care professionals respect each other and are respected as well as the overall regard for the career as an actual profession.
How will caregiving change in the next ten years? Direct Care Professionals will require respect/regard as a profession by the field as a whole or more people will leave and fewer people will turn there as a career choice.
My advice to employers about what they need to do to recruit and retain direct care workers: Implement and maintain a sound mentoring and training program to encourage each other and create a positive work environment.

Something I’d like to accomplish: I would like to be part of the promotion of a more professional career option for direct care professionals across Iowa and setting a precedent for the nation.
Someone I admire: Anthony Wells, the reason I became a direct care professional in the first place. His charisma is contagious.
Outside interests: Music and wellness
About my family: I have been married to my husband, Shawn, since 1996. We have a teenage son and young daughter. I was born in Iowa, but raised in Germany. I went to college in Kentucky and have returned to Iowa to raise my family.
My favorite vacation spot: Germany (I wish!) to show my family where I was raised.
Jo Hoyt Freeman died on October 30, 2010 from complications of Alzheimer’s disease. Jo’s husband, Claude, chronicles their journey in his recently published book Jo’s Story: Who is Caring? The story is a reflective and poignant portrayal of their life together and how they dealt with the diagnosis of Alzheimer’s disease and prepared for the inevitable. What became very evident to them was their realization that a well educated, skilled and consistent direct care workforce is essential to the overall quality of care.

In Jo’s Story, both the good and bad that sometimes exist within our health and long term care delivery system are disclosed. The Jo Hoyt Freeman Education Fund was established to work with Iowa CareGivers, Iowa Alzheimer’s Associations, and various educational institutions to create an approved learning curriculum, to be taught in scholastic learning environments, and in Alzheimer’s dementia care facilities where Direct Care Workers (DCWs) will receive advanced knowledge about Alzheimer’s/dementia diseases, and be taught better, more effective communication skills, and individualized care methods. Their Alzheimer’s/dementia diseased residents will then be more receptive of, and more favorably responsive to the newly acquired methods of communication and individualized care.

To order Jo’s Story: Who is Caring? go to Amazon.com or order a copy from your local bookstore.

Leadership

Highlights from the Iowa CareGivers Leadership Conference

33 Leadership Program Graduates Joined Us in Ankeny for the Leadership Conference

- I attended my state legislator’s town hall meeting in my community. – Janet Reiser
- I provided the introduction and closing portions of the Regional Conference in Muscatine, and recruited my son, Brit, to volunteer to help with the program. – Sherry Oswald
- I called and talked with my legislators. – Laura Stein
- I provided testimony to the Health and Human Services Appropriations Subcommittee at the Capitol. – Fran Mancl
- I staffed registration and hosted the program in Creston. – Jeff Weinstock
- I brought 3 co-workers with me to the Regional Conference. – Becky Johnson
- I wrote a poem honoring Pam’s 15 year anniversary at Iowa CareGivers. – Renee Bernier
- We hosted the “A Call to Leadership” program in Sheldon on April 8. – Anthony Wells, Leslie Hayenga Adams, and Renee Bernier

“One of the things that impressed me at the Leadership Conference was the professionalism and passion for what we do showed by most who were attending. These fellow DCP’s make us stand out in our commitment to those we serve in our communities despite the serious issue we face. We were encouraged to contact all our political representatives with these issues and were given the tools to do so.”

– Connie Brennan, CHPNA, DCP

“After participating in the Iowa CareGivers first Leadership Conference I became an official Ambassador for the Iowa Direct Care Workforce Initiative. The presentation on the program helped me to see how it would be an excellent way to get more involved in promoting my profession in direct care. I also left the Leadership Conference remembering ten powerful two-letter words: “If it is to be it is up to me” (I framed those words and hung them up). Those words remind me that both my presence and voice matter and can make a real difference, especially to those elected to the Iowa Legislature who are in a decisive position to strengthen the direct care workforce. Learning about how the legislative process works helped me discover that I need to let my elected officials know how important it is to develop education standards, training, and credentialing for direct care professionals like myself. The Leadership Conference truly inspired me to be a leader in my own right by performing direct care with pride and integrity.”

– Fran Mancl, CNA, CNA Mentor
“ A Call to Leadership” Programs in June: Still Time to Register!

“What I liked most about the program was just being understood”
– a recent leadership graduate

“A Call to Leadership” is a one day educational program that focuses on leadership outside the workplace. The focus of the program is on professionalism and leadership within the direct care profession. Participants identify ways to enhance the professional status and image of their profession, and develop various leadership and advocacy skills. The program is made possible in part by Iowa Department of Public Health.

“Go The Distance” In Showing Your Support For Those Who Provide Direct Care

SPONSOR THEIR STATEWIDE EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE “GOING THE DISTANCE”

Deadline for Pledges Extended but Need Pledge ASAP!!

The Iowa CareGivers provides high quality programs, resources, research, and advocacy designed to help ensure that the needs of those who provide most of the direct care and support in our state are addressed. Without this vital workforce, the needs of Iowans cannot be met and that is a major concern given the increasing demand for their services. As a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit, we rely on various sources of financial support that include private and corporate foundation grants, individual contributions, public funding, fees for service, and sponsorships.

Becoming a sponsor of “Going the Distance,” a statewide educational conference for those who work in direct care is one way you can help. The conference is scheduled for September 23 and 24, 2013. To view the postcard, visit: http://www.iowacaregivers.org/uploads/pdf/2013_conference_postcard.pdf. There are a number of sponsorship opportunities to choose from and no amount is too small.

While some employers now cover the cost of their direct care/support staff to attend the conference, it is essential that we keep the cost affordable for those who must pay their own registration fee. Your sponsorship helps to make that possible.

The actual cost of the two-day conference per person would be approximately $300 per person. But because of generous sponsors those who attend pay a modest registration fee of $60 per person.

Thank you for your consideration!

“3 P’s in a Pod” Regional Conferences Highlights

Personal Support, Professional Development, and Peer Networking

“I have been at this nursing home for 18 years and was getting burned out. This conference helped motivate me to want to go back to work and make it a better place for not only myself but the residents also.”
— Carroll Regional Conference Participant

I have enjoyed the conferences. I believe if it wasn’t for the conferences that I have attended I would not be in direct caregiving. — Carroll Regional Conference Participant

Time spent in networking with other direct care professionals – communication with each other, sharing ideas, thoughts, and experiences. Variety of sessions, topics excellent! — Calmar Regional Conference Participant

I liked all the topics being discussed today. They are all useful to our daily work, to ourselves and the people we work with. — Creston Regional Conference Participant

The whole experience was informative and enjoyable. Nice to have your work and dedication acknowledged. — Creston Regional Conference Participant

Thank you for all the excellent information! — Muscatine Regional Conference Participant
“Going the Distance” for You in Planning Programs

When Iowa CareGivers plans programs, we want them to reflect our dedication and passion for those who work in the field of direct care and all of those to whom you provide services. So, we try to “go the distance” with every program, meeting, conference, and event.

Gathering input from direct care professionals on topics that are important to you.
Out of the box thinking, bringing you new ideas.
Involvement--offering you ways to get involved in the programs.
Networking with other direct care professionals.
Giving you recognition for the important role you have.

Tailoring programs specific to you, the direct care professional.
Helping you to reach your goals through continued education.
Engaging you in the decision-making.

Developing opportunities to improve your leadership and mentoring skills.
Interaction with speakers and other participants.
Supporting your choice to make direct care your career.
Tapping into community resources that can provide you with helpful information.
Answering your questions. If we don’t know it, we’ll try to point you to someone who does.
Never have a program that doesn’t include something fun or interesting.
Covering information for a variety of care and support settings.
Enhancing the image of the direct care profession.

GOING THE DISTANCE!
IOWA CAREGIVERS 2013 CONFERENCE

On Your Marks, Get Set, GO!!!
September 23 and 24, 2013

This year’s conference theme is “Going the Distance.” It takes training, conditioning, and a lot of passion to “go the distance” as an athlete. It is much the same as a direct care professional. Training, education, experience, and passion all make you successful at providing quality care to the individuals you serve.

It may seem like you are running a marathon at times and even jumping over hurdles, but when you reach that finish line, and see the smile on a loved one’s face and feel the satisfaction of knowing you have done the best for older Iowans, and children and adults with disabilities, it is all worth the effort.

So,
• On your marks
• Get Set
• Go...to conference this fall!

Conference Location:
The Meadows Events and Conference Center — Prairie Meadows
1 Prairie Meadows Drive, Altoona, IA  50009

Look for workshops on these topics:
• Autism
• Mental Health/Schizophrenia
• Palliative Care
• Power of Attorney/Guardianship
• Health and Wellness
• Oral Health
• Boundaries in the Workplace
• Skin Care
• Conflict Resolution
• Parkinson’s Disease
• Medications,
• And many more!

What Did the 2013 Session of the Iowa Legislature Do to Improve the Lives of Direct Care Professionals (Workers) and the Quality of Care and Services Provided to Iowans?

As those who work in direct care (or their supporters) you need to know whether issues important to you and those you serve have been addressed. Here is a brief run-down:

Iowa CareGivers Priority Issues That DID GET Addressed:

- Earned Income Tax Credit: The bill will double the amount of the earned income tax credit for many who work in direct care and other Iowans working at lower paying jobs; allowing them to keep a little more of each paycheck to help make ends meet.
- Expansion of Health Benefits: a bill that will make good and affordable health care benefits available to low-income Iowans, including thousands of those who work in direct care. These benefits will be available January 1, 2014 if the federal government approves the ideas contained in the bill. STAY TUNED FOR LOTS MORE INFORMATION ON THIS TOPIC IN THE COMING MONTHS!
- Funding to continue the Direct Care Worker Advisory Council: a bill that provides continuing funding for the efforts to increase and improve the training and career opportunities of those who work in direct care.
- Funding to support programs for those who work in direct care: a bill to continue programs and activities such as statewide and regional educational programs, leadership development, mentoring programs, and other efforts of the Iowa CareGivers.

Note: The Governor has not yet reviewed, approved, and signed these bills into law. Until he does, the changes called for in them will not occur.

Iowa CareGivers Priority Issues That DID NOT Get Addressed:

- Improve the knowledge, skills, and professional status of the direct care workforce: The bill would have:
  - Required a minimum amount of consistent basic training for those entering the direct care occupation.
  - Made it easier for those who work in direct care to move from one type of work setting to another.
  - Created opportunities for those who work in direct care to get additional training to specialize in areas such as mental health, Alzheimer's, oral care, and end-of-life care.
  - Created a Board of Direct Care Professionals to provide professional status to the direct care workforce and to oversee the profession.

(This issue was not voted on by either the Senate or House. Iowa CareGivers and other supporters of the bill felt that it would lead to enhanced quality of care and supports for those Iowans of all ages being served. It would enhance public health and public safety, and give Iowa families peace of mind that their loved ones were being served by individuals who were better trained and more committed to their work. And it would provide those who work in the field the professional status they deserve. The issues of how to attract more Iowans into the direct care profession, keep them in it and have them provide better care and services, remain to be addressed. The Iowa CareGivers, with your continued help, will continue its efforts to keep these important issues at the forefront of debate.)

SO…What’s Next? Get Ready for the 2014 Session NOW!

The need to educate legislators about the work being done by those in the direct care profession is as big as ever. They need to better understand the challenges workers face in providing high quality care and services, and in being able to make a living doing the work. Those needs can best be addressed during the time that legislators are home in their districts between now and next January when the 2014 legislative session begins.

SO…What Can You Do To Have An Impact?

1. Find out who your elected legislators are. Attend local meetings that they hold. Ask them what you could do to assist them in learning more about the work you do and the challenges you face.

Visit https://www.legis.iowa.gov/Legislators/find.aspx to find out who your state senator and state representative are:

2. Ask them to support those who work in direct care and the people they serve. Give them the name, phone number and website address of the Iowa CareGivers to find out more about direct care workforce issues.

OUR GOAL IS TO ASSIST AND HELP THEM, NOT TO DEBATE OR CRITICIZE THEM.

Phone: 515.223.2805. Website: www.IowaCareGivers.org Email: information@iowacaregivers.org

3. Stay Informed. Stay Involved. Keep caring about the work you do and keep providing the best possible care and supports to those being served. Be a great example of a great direct care professional!

YOUR VOICE HAS POWER!

A sincere THANKS to everyone who took the time to call, write, or e-mail your state legislators during this past session! Your contacts were critical! The success we obtained, and the progress we made, was in large part due to YOUR efforts.

It’s a reality – legislators exist to represent the people they serve. They don’t know what people want them to do unless someone takes the time to contact them. Your voice has power. But only if it’s used!

Congratulations to New Mentor Grads!

22 Direct Care Professionals graduated from Iowa CareGivers’ "A Call to Mentoring" on May 1, 2013. The two-day educational program for those who work in direct care was hosted by Des Moines Area Community College in Ankeny. Participants discussed ways to mentor fellow direct care professionals, the importance of active listening and other communication skills, and left with a Mentor Magic Kit containing tools to aid them in their roles as mentors. Jo’s Story: Who Is Caring? A Family Caregiver’s Tribute

Jo Hoyt Freeman died on October 30, 2010 from complications of Alzheimer’s disease. Jo’s husband, Claude, chronicles their journey in his recently published book Jo’s Story: Who is Caring? The story is a reflective and poignant portrayal of their life together and how they dealt with the diagnosis of Alzheimer’s disease and prepared for the inevitable. What became very evident to them was their realization that a well educated, skilled and consistent direct care workforce is essential to the overall quality of care.

In Jo’s Story, both the good and bad that sometimes exist within our health and long term care delivery system are disclosed.

The Jo Hoyt Freeman Education Fund was established to work with Iowa CareGivers, Iowa Alzheimer’s Associations, and various educational institutions to create an approved learning curriculum, to be taught in scholastic learning environments, and in Alzheimer’s dementia care facilities where Direct Care Workers (DCWs) will receive advanced knowledge about Alzheimer’s/dementia diseases, and be taught better, more effective communication skills, and individualized care methods. Their Alzheimer’s/dementia diseased residents will then be more receptive of, and more favorably responsive to the newly acquired methods of communication and individualized care.

To order Jo’s Story: Who is Caring? go to Amazon.com or order a copy from your local bookstore.

This two-day program offers free dental care to those in need. You can volunteer or you can wait in line to receive free dental treatment (cleanings, fillings, root canals, extractions, etc.) The wait may be long, but those in line will be seen. This program usually sees 2000 patients and contributes around $1 million in free dentistry.
A Message from the Board Chair

I think that we could all agree this is both an exciting but challenging time in the field of direct care. A week doesn’t go by but at least one article crosses my desk highlighting the current and/or projected staff shortage of direct care workers in every setting of long-term care. Although Iowa CareGivers partners with employers on recruitment initiatives, much of our programming work focuses on employee retention of this very diverse direct care work force.

Our annual fall conference is one of our major efforts to provide education, advocacy, support and networking opportunities for all direct care workers. I love the theme, “Going the Distance.” Not only does it speak to the level of direct care being provided to individuals and their families but it also reinforces the critical need we all have, to keep current workers involved, engaged and committed to this very important profession of being a caregiver.

I would challenge each of us to seek out at least one direct care worker during the month of June, thank them for the care they provide and commend them for going the distance as a part of the direct care workforce in Iowa.

— Maribel Slinde, Board Chair

Changes In How You Receive Health Care Coverage Go Into Effect January 2014

Complete The Online Survey So You Can Have A Voice In Making Sure The New Health Benefits Program Serves The Needs Of Those Who Need It Most…the Uninsured and Underinsured. If you are unable to take the survey online, please call our office (515-223-2805) and we will mail you a copy along with a postage paid business reply envelope.

Consumer Survey: http://iowahealthinsurancesurvey.com
Since so many who work in direct care are uninsured or have policies they can’t afford to use due to high deductibles, etc., your voices are very important at this stage of the planning.

The survey, conducted by the University of Iowa Public Policy Center and College of Public Health, is being done to help Iowa prepare for the changes in how you receive health care coverage. Participating in the survey will give you a chance to share your preferences for things like:

1. How to purchase the insurance
2. Where to go to receive the best information, etc.

Make sure to visit us on the web at: www.iowacaregivers.org and you can follow us on Facebook and Twitter

Please remember to update us if you have any name or contact information changes, so that you can continue to receive the Iowa CareGivers HUB and other program announcements. Thank you.
